Dear Diary.

I got up from bed at 5 a.m. Frankly, all night I did not sleep (I got used to it already) and I was looking up at the ceiling and thinking of modern times. I have been looking for work recently but the level of unemployment in the world is increasing dangerously. Nobody works in factories no more, employers prefer to buy robots to work instead of people, there are many advantages of this solution, but only for the employers. People have nowhere to work, and lately the situation in the country deteriorated significantly. Nobody has money, parents aren't able to provide their children with basic things, thus they refrain from starting their own families. This way in a few hundred years the human race will extinct. I need to do something about it..

Dear Diary.

I have been thinking about my work for a week, and figured that I could begin to create robots. I know something about this I read a lot of books about making them. Only I know, that the parts are terribly expensive. But, as usually, I will figure out something. It's the only way to start any work and is also the only way to start my crazy plan designated "back in time". I'm very excited, and I believe that in these times it may work.

I'll tell you when I will create my first robot! wish me luck..

Dear Diary.

It took me a whole year, but I finally did it. It does not look nice because to save money I took the old junk robots. For now it is in the testing phase. This is a robot designed to help people in the kitchen so every day to prepare him for his job he cleans my apartment and makes my breakfast. Do not judge me, you know that I do not have time to do that and he's very good at doing this.

Tomorrow I am going to auctions to earn a little, maybe get to know someone who would like to help me with my plan. Recently I read about time changer, so now I know what you think but people believe that it exists and the creator of this item was Amos Dickson. I have never heard of this name but tomorrow I will try to find out something about him.

Dear Diary.

I never expected that my robot can appeal to anyone. I sold it and now I have the money for the new one. Today I met a man with whom I spoke about Amos and his time changer. I did not tell him about my plan, it would be too risky. I asked him if he believes that it really exists.. and you will not believe what I heard.

This man told me that he believes in its existence (which already is a success), but he is not sure where Amos had hidden it. He also added that there is possibility that Amos had destroyed it. I was thrilled at the thought of the chance to see people living back in the year 2000. I am glad also about a faint chance of seeing my favorite band, they played in those years. it would be a dream come true because now I cannot hear them because there are no CDs, no one uses them and those that still exist, cost a fortune.

Dear Diary.

Today I was looking for sings of Amos's life. I was seraching in books and in the internet. Its so hard to do because its like he had vanished into the air. Maybe he had really used the time changer and stayed in the past? I do not know how to use this thing but i really want to find out. In the morning I went to a bookshop and bought some old books were I noticed his name. I have already read five books but have not found anything useful. I read about his familly, his past and about his job. But no sentence mentions the time changer. I give up.

Dear Diary.

I washave not been writing because I do not want to think about Amos. I failed, and I know it, but yeasterday I noticed something strange. I went to the bookshop because I wanted to return these old books that I bought a few months before. When I crossed the threshold of the bookshop, I noticed a new book entitled "Does the time changer really exist?". On the cover of the book I saw a face this man who I met when I sold my robot. I Immediately bought this book and started reading. This man tricked me. He spoke with me and told me that he did not know were the time changer was but in his book was written that he had found it! He described it and he wrote that he would use it to restore the world such as it was. I thought that he really wanted it but no, now I know that he thinks only of himself and I am sure that he wants to destroy it because HE IS AMOS'S GRANDSON! I serached the internet and found out much more e.g Amos wanted to desroy it, but he couldnt do it, so he left it as an inheritance to Ian (yes, "This man" was called Ian). I stopped creating new robots since I focused my all attention on the time changer. My last robot proved to be a sotes and I erved a good amount so I stopped the production. Now I want to speak with Ian, if i have to steal changer I will. I am very determined.

Dear Diary.

I found out where Ian lives. He live near so I decided to visit him. In the morning. I got in the car and drove to his house (it's very big and expensive). Maybe his book proved to be a hit, I do not know, but it was very strange. I do not want to accuse him but it looks weird. I knocked on the door and I waited. The door opened a man in a suit, but he did not look like the man on the cover of the book, and he looked older than Ian. He did not tell me anything exept this: "twist it left to go back into the past". I did not know what he was talking about, maybe he was trying to scare me and he did . I ran to the downtown because i wanted to calm down. I bought some things but it is not important. When I left the shopping center I noticed a huge screen with a woman, who was talking about the changer! What she was saying swept me off my feet, she said that the time changer is in the museum of inexplicable things. I felt like I lost the meaning of my life. I've never felt like that , I felt anger and despair. Was it supposed to be the end of my great adventure? Will everything slip through my fingers when I'm already close to succeed? Something must have gone wrong.

22.August.3017

Dear Diary

I have been thinking about it for the whole four days. I went to the website, to find out where the museum was hidden the time changer, it is not some big museum compared to others in these times. but this is not what I wanted to write, I came up with a new plan, a brilliant plan. but if something fails, I may not write more here. The plan is: enter the museum and hide somewhere where no one would notice me (even a camera), so I will hide in the toilet. When everyone comes out, and the museum is closed, I will get out of the toilet, steal the time changer and I move back into the past. It sounds obvious doesn't it? I was thinking also how time changer works but I have no idea how to activate it. I remember, however, my short conversation with the man who I met at Ian's home. He said "twist it left to go back to the past" Maybe he told me how the time changer works. I do not know, what he meant. But I will try to start it this way. You only live once, right?

28.August.3017

Dear Diary

Finally the day has come. Today I am going to implement my plan. If all goes well, I will write about it, but if I get caught, it will be my last entry.

29.August.3017

Dear Diary

What a day. I do not know if I have enough time to tell you everything exactly, but I will try. When I hid in the museum, nobody noticed me, which was really weird because I hid in the toilet, I hung the card on the door with the inscription "out of order, do not enter" it was banal but it worked. I was sitting there for two hours, listening to how robots were cleaning. I was very scared because I noticed that the security guard was also a robot, I had a feeling that in a few years robots will replace humans in all of their duties. Outsmarting the robot was easy. I only had to throw something in the opposite direction and he went there and wondered what it was, I did not need not be frightened of him he was dumber than I thought. You think that it went all right don't you? Breaking the glass and getting the changer out of the glass-case was the most difficult. I tried to break the glass by hand but it was stupid. It was really thick and heavy so I could not just go off with it. I started looking around for something that might break the glass. I remembered about a laser in my pocket which is always with me. I got it as a gift from my friend for whom I made a housekeeper robot. I cut a hole in the glass and took out the time changer. The security guard robot was still dealing with the ball thrown by me. Without thinking long, I ran quickly to the toilet to hide and then leave without any suspicion in the morning. This was my biggest adventure. I would have never imagined that everything would go so well. when I came back at home, I immediately used the time changer and finally I am BACK IN TIME...
